

Numerology reading of Orson Welles

Maia method - English/French alphabet

Ives	37/10/1	Hodgdon Head.	80/8	Heredity	117	9	9	9	9
------	---------	------------------	------	----------	-----	---	---	---	---

Born on Thursday	06	05	1915
Numerical order day	126	9	9

Ives	14/5				23/5				37/10/1
Orson	12/3				15/6				27/9
	27	9	9	9	26	8	26	8	38	11	38	11	64/10	64/19	19
	Active		9	Soul Urge		8	Potent.		11	Expression		1

Life Path	27	18	18	9
Foetus	8	Life's Goal		27/9
Maturity	9 + 1 = 10			1

Inclusion with 9 letters
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
			22
2	0	0	0	1	2	2	0	0	2
c	C
	k	k				k	k
0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10	10

Initials	OI	15	6
Balance	OI	15	6

First Name		Last Name
Initial	O	Initial	I
First vowel	O	First vowel	I
Swivel	s	Swivel
Final	n	Final	s

Duty	11	11	Initiation	24	6
Subconsc.	5	Eccentricity		15	6

Cycle 1 from birth		5
Cycle 2 from the age of 28		6
Cycle 3 from the age of 55	16	7

Pinnacle 1 from birth	11	11C
Pinnacle 2 at 27	13	4
Pinnacle 3 at 36	24	6
Pinnacle 4 at 45	12	3

Planes of expression	Mental	Physical	Emotional	Intuitional
	1	1	6	1
Inspired	5	E	IOOR
Dual	3	N	SS
Balanced	1			V

Major challenge		11
Chall. before 42yo		1
Chall. from 42yo	19	1

Orson	12/3				15/6				27/9
Welles	10/1				12/3				22/4/22
	22	22	22	22	27	9	27	9	49/13	49/13	31
	Ideality		22	Structure		9	Patrimony		4

YOUR PERSONALITY

You are voluntary, ambitious and exercise authority. You have confidence in yourself and you will have the opportunity to express your potential. Passion is the fuel that keeps your engine going. You know how to organize, guide, direct and take the initiative. That's why you will blossom in a business where you will assume that role or an independent business. Problems with hierarchy and/or authority can tarnish your reputation and/or limit your influence at a time in your life. Your life is marked by important changes in your social and professional status.

You are looking for a comfortable life and do not accept in any way that everything related to mediocrity takes over your life. You are blessed with a good memory and you have an intuitive mind. Above all, you prefer your brilliant inspirations. You favor anything that is innovative for your benefit but especially for the benefit of others. You are a productive and selfless person that does not systematically seek to impose your natural authority. You need to learn not to let yourself get overwhelmed by a certain amount of concern about the vicissitudes of life, which tend to make you nervous. You like to make yourself useful without asking for anything in return, you are easily relegated to the sidelines. You're afraid of being discredited in the eyes of your loved ones, which often requires you to do too much. Contact with the public is encouraged, despite some shyness. You know how to make yourself appreciated and you have tact but you will still need to control your excessive emotionality.

YOUR DEEPEST ASPIRATIONS

Your deep desire is to find a bridge between the spiritual and material, to achieve your existence on these two planes, to show that one does not exclude the other. Suddenly, you appear double to those who know you well. Alternately, you are capable of empathy and sensitivity more than hardness and intransigence. You are comprehensive one day and a manipulator the next. You are open towards others and then you are closed, alone. The fact remains that your loyalty is unwavering among beings who find favor in your eyes. Genuine cooperation can even move with them. A partner of the opposite sex will play an important role to make you aware of your influence on others duality, but also your magnetism. In fact, your soul longs to transcend on a selfish use of power. Over time, you will want your success and also want to have positive also have positive consequences. Enter sum of the right to abundance. This development will inevitably take some time but it is likely to occur. Often tense, on guard, you'll realize that your hard positions are behind many of your relationship problems. An issue of sexuality should be resolved, as it may embarrass you (high libido or inhibitions).

YOUR POTENTIAL

Specifically, you display a real ambition to match the esteem you have of your abilities. Powered by a model to follow your principle, you naturally flow from what you feel is your duty. You are also able to not express everything that you feel, as if you have a superior reason to accept in silence. Generous, you are not less selective in your activities, leaving aside anything that you feel insignificant and mediocre. Attention to progress, you constantly improve your projects to the point of no longer having the energy to manage your emotional life, which can often be tense. It is also desirable to express your feelings. The silence will take you to leverage tensions and frustrations. You help others but in you have the idea that this is a test of your high moral values. Moreover, your social and professional activity will be characterized by a transformation, sometimes sudden and unpredictable, where complications related to the law, impediments manifest themselves. You can also expect windfall. In all cases, your financial balance helps your emotional balance, any difficulties in this area will be hard felt. You should act with prudence in your investment, not spending beyond your limits, learn to manage. Your enthusiasm is a positive answer to your struggle. Despite ups and downs, your ability to adapt is essential to social-professional success. A woman will also help you in this area.

YOUR FAMILY BACKGROUND

In this part of the analysis, when we talk about a mother or father, we are talking about the person who actually held this role for you.

The parental home is marked by the influence of a man (the father) and grandparents. You idealize the members of your family and this sometimes disappoints you if they do not turn out to be at the height of your expectations. Family issues revolve around patrimony, sometimes creating sacrifices, difficulties in relation to money. This family background leads you to like traveling and activities that let you get away. Attracted to places near water (sea, lake, river ...) and the great outdoors, you gradually move farther in your life without neglecting the importance of your roots. In doing so, it is necessary to find a balance between a good adaptation to material vicissitudes and your desire to get away from this world (travel, games ...).

Your mother's pregnancy took place in a particularly active environment, which sometimes proved even frantic. Financial concerns may have been there at the time.

Problems connected to the relationship you have with your mother come from your maternal image. Whatever the reason, this woman does not fully satisfy your need for emotional recognition. Your sensitivity, your frustrations are rooted in this lack.

An emotional node is directly connected to the father figure because you do not know or do not know a lot about him (he is a resigned father or simply not very present in your early youth) In this aspect, sometimes your father in law is a father-substitute. In all cases, this has changed and deformed the male prototype through your mother and the relationship she has with men. Emotional dependency towards a woman was then installed (usually the mother). Besides, you seek to be recognized and valued by women.

YOUR TEMPERAMENT

You act by trying to give yourself your ideals. Your actions are influenced by your (hyper) sensitivity to others and the environment, so you still like to keep some kind of distance in the action to protect yourself.

You are well-balanced. You are also greatly sensitive. Your working capacity is tremendous. Yet, you avoid troubles and worries, because they tend to eat up your mind : you munch them over and over. Your creativity and your intuition need to be emphasized at work, or you won't feel happy. You don't always listen to your colleagues as they expect you to. You carry out your relationships in a simple and easygoing way. Moreover, you're always ready to help. When facing the unexpected, your answer always consists in protecting your family.

YOUR EXPRESSION

You are quick to respond when faced with situations where reasoning is required. Your mental activity is lively, alert; often underpinned by the need to confront yourself, to prove yourself. A man (a father, a partner etc) can represent both an example and a challenge through these intellectual abilities.

You are hypersensitive. You want to surround your family with a deep and true affection but are always afraid of being misunderstood. Family is your main focus of attention. You try to find fulfilment through harmonious and balanced sensations. Love should not be a source of conflict.

There will be solitary moments in your journey which will help you to move forward. Your willingness to assert yourself, to set yourself up to live through the challenges to come. The context often focuses on issues related to physical health.

Your gut instincts are quick and sudden. They are inspiring and you make good use of them to organise yourself and act in society. In fact, you often know what you want.

You are first and foremost a creative soul. Whatever your mode of expression, you always have this need to create. In fact, your creativity is drawn to the source of your experiences. You love to innovate, create while you feel free.

The attachment to your father and/or one man in particular is very strong. Similarly, you ensure that your efforts bring you greater stability.

You will gradually detach yourself from futile things to better discern and go deeper. For this, it is possible that siblings play a role and betrayals and mockery may also startle you.

YOUR MAIN QUALITIES

Your inner strength, even if you master part of it, will be tested during certain phases of your existence (due to the challenge of number 1). Furthermore, this yearning of committing yourself is particularly blatant within the framework of associations, of the couple or of contracts.

You are prompted to explore, to push limits and to discover. Enjoy your freedom and your rich and diverse experiences! Moreover, you like to share your need of freedom with your partner. In fact, you love to share adventures, discoveries and changes.

People like to confide in you. They come to you for advice or to be cheered up. You know your family duties well (please note that the word family must be taken at large, i.e including a circle of friends). In fact, calm and peace are very important to you, at home or at work. You wish to share responsibilities and to work towards more harmony with your partner.

You care for others. People like you, because you prove to be able to understand and love others, to take care of them and comfort them. Subconsciously, you know right from wrong. The impulses of your heart are turned towards your partner. With him/her you would appreciate to share a common ideal. You love to be nice in your associations.

YOUR MAIN DIFFICULTIES

You are hyper sensitive. You are stubborn and adamant : learn how to control your emotions. You will be easier to live with, at home, or at work.

In fact, all that is connected to the karmic origin of the link to your mother. The nature of this relationship is that you lack the presence of a mother in the entire maternal sense of the term. She would be rather bossy, possessive and overprotective, not ceasing to demand that you do this or that... As a result, this lack, this legitimate and unfulfilled expectation from the child in you, leads you to want to be unconditionally loved. Perhaps you don't perceive that it is a source of difficulty for others. As a result, this appropriation attempt degenerates into conflict. A break-up often ensues and depression too if you're not careful. Therefore it is best to identify that which belongs to your dreams, your projections of reality from the other which has its own history. In addition to your mother, the karmic link to another woman close to you in your family (wife, daughter, etc) is certain. Listening qualities should be developed to ease the effects of this influence.

You find it difficult to say things, to express yourself, to communicate. Your thoughts don't seem clear. Any form of art could enable you to communicate more easily.

This difficult communication with your loved ones can lead you to feel resentment. A problem also lies in relation to your image, even your sexuality. You should not cut yourself off from others or conversely spread yourself too thin with thousands of activities. You must find the resources to be less closed off, accepting of others, even if they do not meet your expectations, and to accept yourself. To remain too mysterious, not to release your emotions, to live only in the dream, you could close the door to some interesting relationships.

Learn to be clearer and simpler, instead of making everything complicated. You are almost too tidy.

With you, it 's either everything or nothing. You must admit your mind must be tamed. You look grumpy one minute and excessive the next. First, make peace with yourself.

This is explained by a feeling of inferiority coming from your past lives. That your parents have encouraged you or not makes no difference. You cultivate a sense of detail to do well, take each personal criticism as a personal attack, you think you suffer. To understand this, you need to look in the direction of your father, or of the person having held this role. Some are not known to cause difficulties. As a result, you are particularly responsive when you feel affected by integrity and moral values. However, not playing the victim at all costs. You have to find solutions. Your encounters with people who are often in more difficulty than you will allow you to put your situation into perspective.

Your relationship with money and power is very different from the norm. This is why you might live situations in which your way of considering things will not be understood. Be careful!

In fact, there is need to overcome a tendency to not dare to confirm your ambition, to think that this is impossible. This doubt, this hindrance comes from the influence of bad-intentioned people, often from childhood. A form of sadism, of destructive behaviour (pressure, blackmail, guilt etc) left and perhaps left their mark on you. These pressures can also be exercised by any established authority (police, justice etc). It is recommended that you identify these people and machines that exercise them, understand why adults are always there and step back and take the necessary steps to avoid these situations. From now on, achievement and success become possible, if you show yourself to be determined, courageous and persistent, and avoid the reproduction of these rather destructive patterns. all this also has also pushed you to go to the extreme, any support at all willing to bring you to reach your limits. This is masochism and you should find the resources to free yourself from it.

Surgery and/or risk of falls, accidents are likely to punctuate your existence especially during cycles and achievements 8. Therefore caution is called for. During these periods, your financial stability is marked by ups and downs (money coming in, big spending, difficulty in distributing money, inheritance too). Be careful to exercise caution without becoming paranoid.

YOUR SOCIAL IMAGE

The following analysis concerns the influence of your current name Welles with your personality, especially regarding your social relationships. In some cases, these will come into conflict with your deeper nature. They then cause an inner duality.

Do not demand too much from others! Not everyone has your thirst of work and efficiency. Take some time to think this motto over : feet on earth, indeed, but head in the stars! You are now out to launch new projects. These will make you nervous and anxious. The influence of your current name does not change your true nature.

YOUR PREDISPOSITION

Given the above analysis, we will now carry out a synthesis of all these different influences. Firstly you are one of those people who is always willing when it comes to taking responsibility in agreement with a profound sense of justice. You are able to harmonize, to pacify your environment, which does not prevent you from staying firm when it comes to the ideals you defend. Stubbornness and the idea when nothing is going to characterise you better.

You love your home and you need to be surrounded by your own (family) as well as loved ones. You give special importance to your home that you know how to decorate. You are attached to domestic life and to children. You have an interest in the medical field, and more broadly in any activity that can assist, advise and help people. You have undeniable artistic tastes and you really like to show yourself at your best. Your commitment in love and at work is undeniable. Pragmatic, serious, loving to plan and organize your lives, but often anxious and intransigent, you encounter situations that paradoxically lead you to indecision. A form of selfishness can characterize you when you are looking to protect your safe world and you may even fall into a childish mode of operation. You're convinced by your well-established strong life principles. Above all, you need to abstain or avoid falling into words and sentences in the style of "It should be like this, it must be like that ....". If your partner cannot satisfy your need for stability and/or harmony, blockages can occur and lead you to a form of frigidity and to a cold and reserved attitude. Otherwise, you will enjoy an emotional development and a beautiful sensuality. You still need a strong presence at your side. You find it difficult to carry out long term relationships, be it in love or in business matters. If your projects need collaboration, you 'd better choose a partner who is willing to 'play second fiddle'. On one hand, you would be intent on meeting your ideal partner in order to build something, safe and sound and to raise a family. On the other hand, you don't like professional and love situations in which you play a secondary role. You love to move about, to go places, to live new diverse experiences, and yet you are hard working. You love travelling as much as you love staying at home with the ones you love. In fact, your family often comes along when you move around, and appreciates these experiences. You react with your instincts. You don't like to analyse, to step away from events. You must commit yourself right away. You are either not materialistic enough or too materialistic. You must find a balance.

YOUR LIFE PATH

Since your birth, the path you have chosen shows that your destiny is that of a traveller's. You belong to those who explore and seek for an ideal, be it on earth or in the mind, it doesn't matter. It is also the promise of varied encounters and experiences.

This path will lead you to make peace with the wisdom of your heart and emotions, and let go of the permanent mind activity that prevents you from discovering your inner path. The fear of being betrayed is ever present. And so is the fear of being judged by people around you, to the extent that your actions will depend on it. Nevertheless, you will find the solution at the heart of your emotions. Other people's advice is useful, but it should not prevent you from sinking into yourself. Giving yourself away to what other people say slows you down. You will have to face your painful memories in any case, if you wish to go further on a spiritual path. Praying and believing are not necessary: you live spirituality through your commitments and your respect of life. Your honesty and your wisdom are likely to touch your surrounding. More than anybody else, you need a vital space, privacy, even if you look very socially active. The more you doubt, the more you display your beliefs. Actually, you identify with an idea, a method or a person and you then teach accordingly, emphasizing your involvement. The more inspired you are, the stronger your messages will be. If the source lies within the heart, you will embody your beliefs very powerfully. On the other hand, your teachings may well rest upon ideas that you hardly apply.

Don't ape other people's beliefs, by trying to convince them out of pure ideas and theories. Search for the truth, through your experiments and emotions. Or else you could end up as a fundamentalist cut off from him/herself. This also goes for para normal experiments, because you know more than anybody else what dead ends this field of exploration can lead to. Don't get confused. Don't fear gurus, but don't follow them blindly either: you must choose your inner middle way.

Your life path is strongly colored by other aspects. Your path leads you to the exploration of honesty. You are very touchy with whatever deals with will-power and ambition, you will try to strike a balance between your desire for power and your desire not to abuse it. Your aim consists in being able to be honest, although influential. Success without compromise is a real challenge. Power is too often associated with abuse. You have chosen to prove the opposite, which will not be easy to achieve. If you happen to walk away from your goal, you will encounter people and events on your path which will bring you back to your purpose.

You make people react. You release such a powerful energy that you receive it back. This allows you to assess the impacts of your actions. You might even fear this strength of yours at times: but the mere fact of directing and steering it in a positive and generous way will ensure your success. In order to do so, you have to overcome your fears and look within yourself instead of focusing on material things.

The only risk is not fight for the right side. You must direct the fight towards the inner center of yourself. Beyond the fake looks you give, you wage a war within yourself, between fears, guilt and judgements. Because you can't master the inside, you want to master the outside and you struggle to take control. You start preaching, without embodying your speech. A healthy period will then come about, to make you understand how far you have gone.

If you manage to highlight your creative qualities, your intelligence and your honesty, you will be a respected person that people enjoy listening to. Nobody will oppose your ability to lead people and manage business. You have charisma, you are driven by high ideals, you are respectful of the rules, you will prove that power can be synonymous with abundance for everyone.

Your social achievement and personal development will overcome the affirmation of your will and sense of responsibility. More of a leader or liberal than subordinate, you will be more and more willing to take responsibility for yourself and to not owe anything to anyone, even if a man often plays an important role in your socioprofessional progress. Often controversial situations with established authority, whatever it may be, will arise. Courageous and hardworking, dynamic, with exceptional professional skills, you will advance your ideas and projects, with the need to be recognized by many. However, this will overcome a reserved nature bordering on timidity in certain circumstances. This may be accompanied by a desire to distance yourself from an oppressive social or family environment, in favour of a monastic, marginal or solitary life in a quiet and natural environment. You'll still have a little competition, you know, the kind that you enjoy without necessarily seeking direct confrontation.

You have sense of happiness, and sound artistic skills. As long as you feel you are loved, nothing can stop you. This ability has its own challenge present in the central part of life:

During this life, you plan to convey on the others. Give the impulse, show the way, as you listen to your inner voice. Keep moderate. Another lesson will deal with your ability to live the different relationships you have in harmony. Take care of others around you. Don't resign from everyday chores.

YOUR RELATIONS

The quality of your relationships depends on your willingness to show your sensitive and generous side. Your meetings are opportunities to grow through the many questions that they provoke in you. Even if life's circumstances have led you to live through difficult times (most often felt as real treachery), it is always a way to develop faith and trust in yourself. Others' mistakes are often a powerful vehicle that allows you to better understand the laws of life. It is up to you to temper your tendency to ruminate, to let yourself overrun mentally. Once again, your relationships offer the opportunity to express your creativity and inspiration.

For you, sex is one of the surest ways to connect body and mind. Abandoning of the body to intoxications is a state that you are looking for because it allows you to find yourself. That's why you thrive in this area; trust in your partner is paramount.

YOUR KARMIC DEBTS

First, you may distinguish aspects of your existence where it will be necessary to put in a particular effort during several years. Th the end, it is always favorable as soon as you have taken conscience of the problem, and that you fully stand for it. First of all, you must learn how to put yourself in someone else's place, so you can get a better idea of different points of view. Try not to consider things just through your own glasses. Learn how to share better, to collaborate, to live together. Free your emotions. This is not a feminine feature. You have to develop skills to listen, to care for, to show tenderness. The problem is often linked to a woman (to the mother, in many cases) or to the lack of relationship with this woman, as a matter of fact. Then, you must learn how to know what is essential from what's not. Very often, you don't care much nor from the inside, nor from the outside. Learn how to get more centered, to become more whole, instead of sliding the true problems away by demanding too much from others. By doing so, you will prove much more creative. Moreover, you must walk out of a certain form of introversion. You doubt, you don't trust nor yourself, nor others. You have a tendency to groan inside, if you let me put it that way. Open yourself to others. Loneliness comes from not wanting to communicate. Is that the solution? To finish with, many persons are like yourself. It's the thirst of power, of authority, of social status, or on the opposite, totally denying to stand up for them. It is necessary to know how to go about with this, that means to find a balance between giving everything up, or keeping everything for you. Living socially together, without fueling power conflicts, nor cultivating the taste of power. Accept differences!

Facing difficulties, you live in a sort of nervous stress, which can make you angry and scattered. Action doesn't have to mean agitation.

When faced with everyday problems, you tend to focus on your home and on family values. You feel obliged and accept more responsibilities.

In second place, you must expect breakdowns. These moments are difficult to determine. Often they are short but very tough to live through. For instance, the brutal loss of a person you love, the treachery of a friend, a project that crumbles, the departure of a spouse... Numerology enables you to determine to what old pattern this consequence corresponds.

Here is the main karmic debt you have chosen to erase.

In the past you had a craving for excitement and love. Only in your past lives, you had no limits, no restraint in your conquests, and you had difficulty controlling your instincts. Easy pleasures followed another, to the point of disregarding the wishes of others. This almost obsessive desire in terms of love and your senses made you forget trivial circumstances and daily responsibilities.

Today, the temptation is there but life does not allow you to transfer as easily. Responsibilities are to be assumed. Your life is punctuated by events and somehow you no longer call the shots. Rather you appear to be led by the nose in love at work. Besides, your love life is not what you had in mind. Some relationships are impossible while others put you more in a state of submission. However, it is through your accountability and your ability to fulfill your obligations that you will find real satisfaction. It is in this way that you open the most beautiful doors.

YOUR CHALLENGES

Your main challenge indicates that you will learn to combine your initiatives taken with the constraints inherent to your associations and collaborations, while not erasing one for the benefit of another, by somehow managing to cope without sacrificing your individuality. You need to avoid burdening others with the way you operate, while knowing to respect those people in your family who may be diametrically opposed to yours. Learn to delegate by trusting. You demonstrate the ability to upset the established order when you feel the need, and finally you adapt to any unexpected disruptions and that will inevitably arise in your life.

Throughout its existence, You take on another challenge that will show itself through some obstacles in the way of your personal achievements required to test your ability to react to adversity by avoiding agitation and excessive authoritarianism. (excess as a Child, you were selfish. Unwilling to consider others, only your point of view was important. A form of megalomania could occur during this period.

This first minor challenge is defined by the predominance of a type of dependence on your mother, or another woman having played or playing a predominant maternal role. This impression can cause you to have difficulties in assuming your identity because you rely too often on an external authority, a kind of imposed model which is difficult if not impossible to follow. You think "how would he or she behave in my position?" or else you try to conform to what you believe this person expects from you. Behind all this, it is about overcoming an emotional node attached to the father, to his excessive or absent but rarely fair authority. Finally, you also need to move away from wanting to be recognized and respected by women at all costs, change position in some way to freely assume your own choices.

YOUR FIRST CYCLE

Until the age of 27, here is the climate of your life: childhood is experienced with a sense of freedom. Often sexuality is discovered early. Change is often at gatherings, moves are numerous. You need to develop, to be recognized. If your parents don't support you enough, you indulge in all kinds of experiences, and feel a lot of nervousness, even anxiety.

This period is put into perspective with what you assume, namely your first realization that will expire in 1942, at the age of 27. To begin, you grow in a family context characterized by differences in influence. Your mother is very (too?) present where the father does not seem to meet your expectations. You will find refuge in activities that offer movement. You are characterized by a certain nervousness.

YOUR SECOND CYCLE

Between 28 (1943) and 54 years old (1969), The climate changes: this time, the environment is quite favorable in terms of your family and social involvement. Responsibility and stability characterize this period. If you are willing to assume certain obligations, you will reap great joy. By showing yourself to be conciliatory and willing your emotional life will be harmonious. Your socioprofessional commitments are marked by your willingness to assist, to arrange which will be appreciated.

During this second cycle, you enter a new period of achievement. Between 1942 and 1951 years old, it is synonymous with success thanks to the efforts provided with rigor and method. A new activity may require perseverance, courage and righteousness. Stability is at stake. The family home often monopolizes your attention. Your commitment is needed in this area. Any rigid behavior can cause changes in your family and/or professional status to generate awareness. Family life is affected one way or another by a transformation (break up, the place that you occupy, authority, passing insecurity etc). There is also a need to be updated with the administration.

Over 1951 until the age of 1960, your third achievement becomes synonymous of rharmonious achievement thanks to your ability to act responsibly. Investments are favored in particular regarding real estate. It's a good time to invest in partnerships, to express your ideas and values and to help others. An important life choice presents itself during this period and this requires your objectivity. Be careful though not to have a confused sense of service and servitude.

YOUR LAST CYCLE

The last period of your achievement begins in 1960, at the age of 45 years. Finally, rather harmonious relationships and achievements are on the programmed, either through a pleasant retirement or in a still active social context. Opportunities arise to travel, to expand your relational circle and/or to simply have a good time. If you participate in an art, you can do so in satisfactory conditions. It is important to share your emotions and your feelings during this period, not to keep them to yourself. Your pretty intense relational life should not mask a hard time to see for yourself what is still an issue.

A new context change begins from your 55 years, i.e. in 1970: The context allows the development of your inner self, sometimes resonating with deep faith. You are passionate, focused on your interests. The search for knowledge continues to be your goal. This refers to creation, publishing, education, psychology, spirituality which may affect you. The risk is doing everything yourself, not accepting outside help. The mystical quest should not become synonymous with escape. A transformation affects married life. The unspoken, your propensity to keep your problems secret are causing a blockage in your relationship. You need to rethink the dialogue and how to express your feelings.

Job guidance

You need a responsibility job where you will have the opportunity to take initiatives. A situation in which you would be in charge of managing a team would suit your personality very well.

At the same time, your life path pushes you towards others, having to give rather than receive, helping rather than being rescued, and being comforted. It is sometimes a challenging journey with its share of trials but also very rewarding in terms of experience. Curiously you have both a profile suited to working in the wilderness and with new technologies. Research, experimentation, but also the service trades related to people, health, education are areas that suit you. However, you also have a genuine taste for art (song, dance, painting etc) and you will have to make time for yourself to enjoy these expressions of the heart. If you open yourself up, it is highly likely that in your occupation, you represent the path to follow.

You tend to be after family and professional balance in the slightest of your everyday acts. As a matter of fact, you are able to bring people back together in harmony, although you tend to loudly let people know about it.

Deep within yourself, something strong drives you to want to succeed, to boost yourself, to manage, and to bravely lead with ardour. Although you prove to be overdemanding, you set out to give yourself all the means to achieve your aims.

Here are some fields of activities where opportunities may come about for you. This doesn't mean you necessarily love these jobs, but they 're adapted to your abilities. Therefore, see in what way they can meet your desires : careers in science (astronomy, physics, research etc), technical careers involving new technologies (IT, electronics, telecommunications, sound etc), but also education, entertainment and parallel sciences linked to esoteric knowledge.

Health

Warning: this medical module of numerology cannot substitute the real diagnosis that a doctor is entitled to do.

Your expression is conducive to troubles concerning the head, the ears, the sight, the heart ,the blood and the lymphatic system.

Your weaknesses are at the level of the heart and psychological disorders. Often, your subconscious leads you to have irrational fears, even if the cause of these difficulties is real (mostly a childhood trauma). Physical training is good medicine, like meditation and a diet that your intuition will dictate you follow.

Especially if this has already been mentioned above, be particularly careful regarding the eyes, the spine, the arteries, and headaches, particularly during a personal year 1 and/or an astrological year XII.

Also pay particular attention to the throat, the ears, the cervical vertebrae and the thyroid gland. Sentimental problems will result in a nervous breakdown. Be careful with your digestive system, for you are unable to bear an unbalanced diet. Your right eye is likely to cause you some trouble, as well as your lymphatic system. In any case, pay a careful attention concerning health problems during personal years 2 , along with astrological years VI and XII. Your body has exceptional enduring capacities . Yet, be sure to pay attention to your back, your vertebrae and your teeth. Your stomach is weak. The throat and the stomach remain fragile. Under certain circumstances, sleep may be hard to find. To finish with, this analysis reveals an excellent vitality, especially if you are on a seashore. But your sleep and your throat remain weak.